Community Workshop
for the City of Santa Clara General Plan Update Environmental Impact Report and the Housing Element

On Monday, August 4, the City of Santa Clara will conduct a community workshop regarding the City's Comprehensive Update of the General Plan. This workshop will take place in the Auditorium of the Santa Clara Senior Center at 1303 Fremont Street (Fremont Street at Monroe Street). The first portion of the meeting will address the City's Environmental Impact Report (EIR) and starts at 6:00 PM. The second portion will focus on the Housing Element and will take place at 7:00 PM.

In order to prepare an Environmental Impact Report, the City needs to identify issues and mitigations for environmental factors. This effort will benefit from the input of community members of all backgrounds. Input from the meeting will be used to prioritize environmental and sustainability issues to 2035.

The City's Housing Element will address housing issues prevalent in the City and the region, such as design, housing types and affordability. Input from the community will be solicited through group activities to address needs and possibilities within the City of Santa Clara.

More information about this community workshop and other activities associated with the City's General Plan Update may be found on the City's General Plan Update website at http://www.santaclaragp.com. You may sign up to receive notifications of future General Plan meetings through the website, by calling the Planning Department at (408) 615-2450, or by sending an email to dhanderson@santaclaraca.gov.
